Life by Intent and Death by Intent Gates

Earth Connector, Earth Healer

The Earth Chakra is located beneath the Feet. The Death by Intent and Life by Intent Gates can be viewed as activating this Chakra

Intent:

- Claim Life On Earth As a Gift
- Claim full Embodiment or Ensoulment
- Special Gift to Heal Ancestral Trauma held in the Earth, including Eco-cide, Genocide, and Colonization
- Connect Etheric Body to the Physical World So Soul Fully Expresses
- Heal Separation Between Masculine & Feminine, Spirit & Matter
- Roots of the World Tree (8th Chakra/Metamorphic is Branches

Venus Between

The Between Point In the Venus Cycle is between something ending and beginning but not at the end or beginning

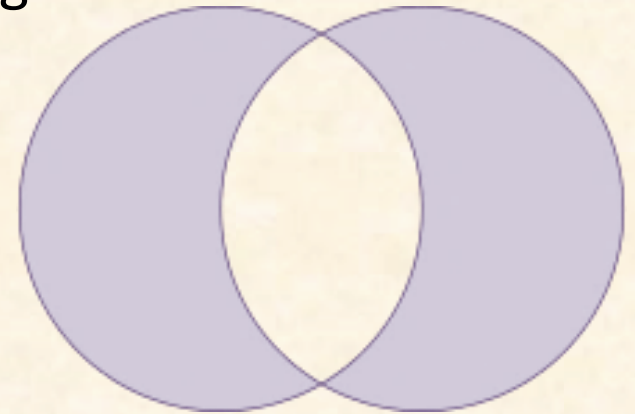

Defining Between from book

On Becoming An Alchemist

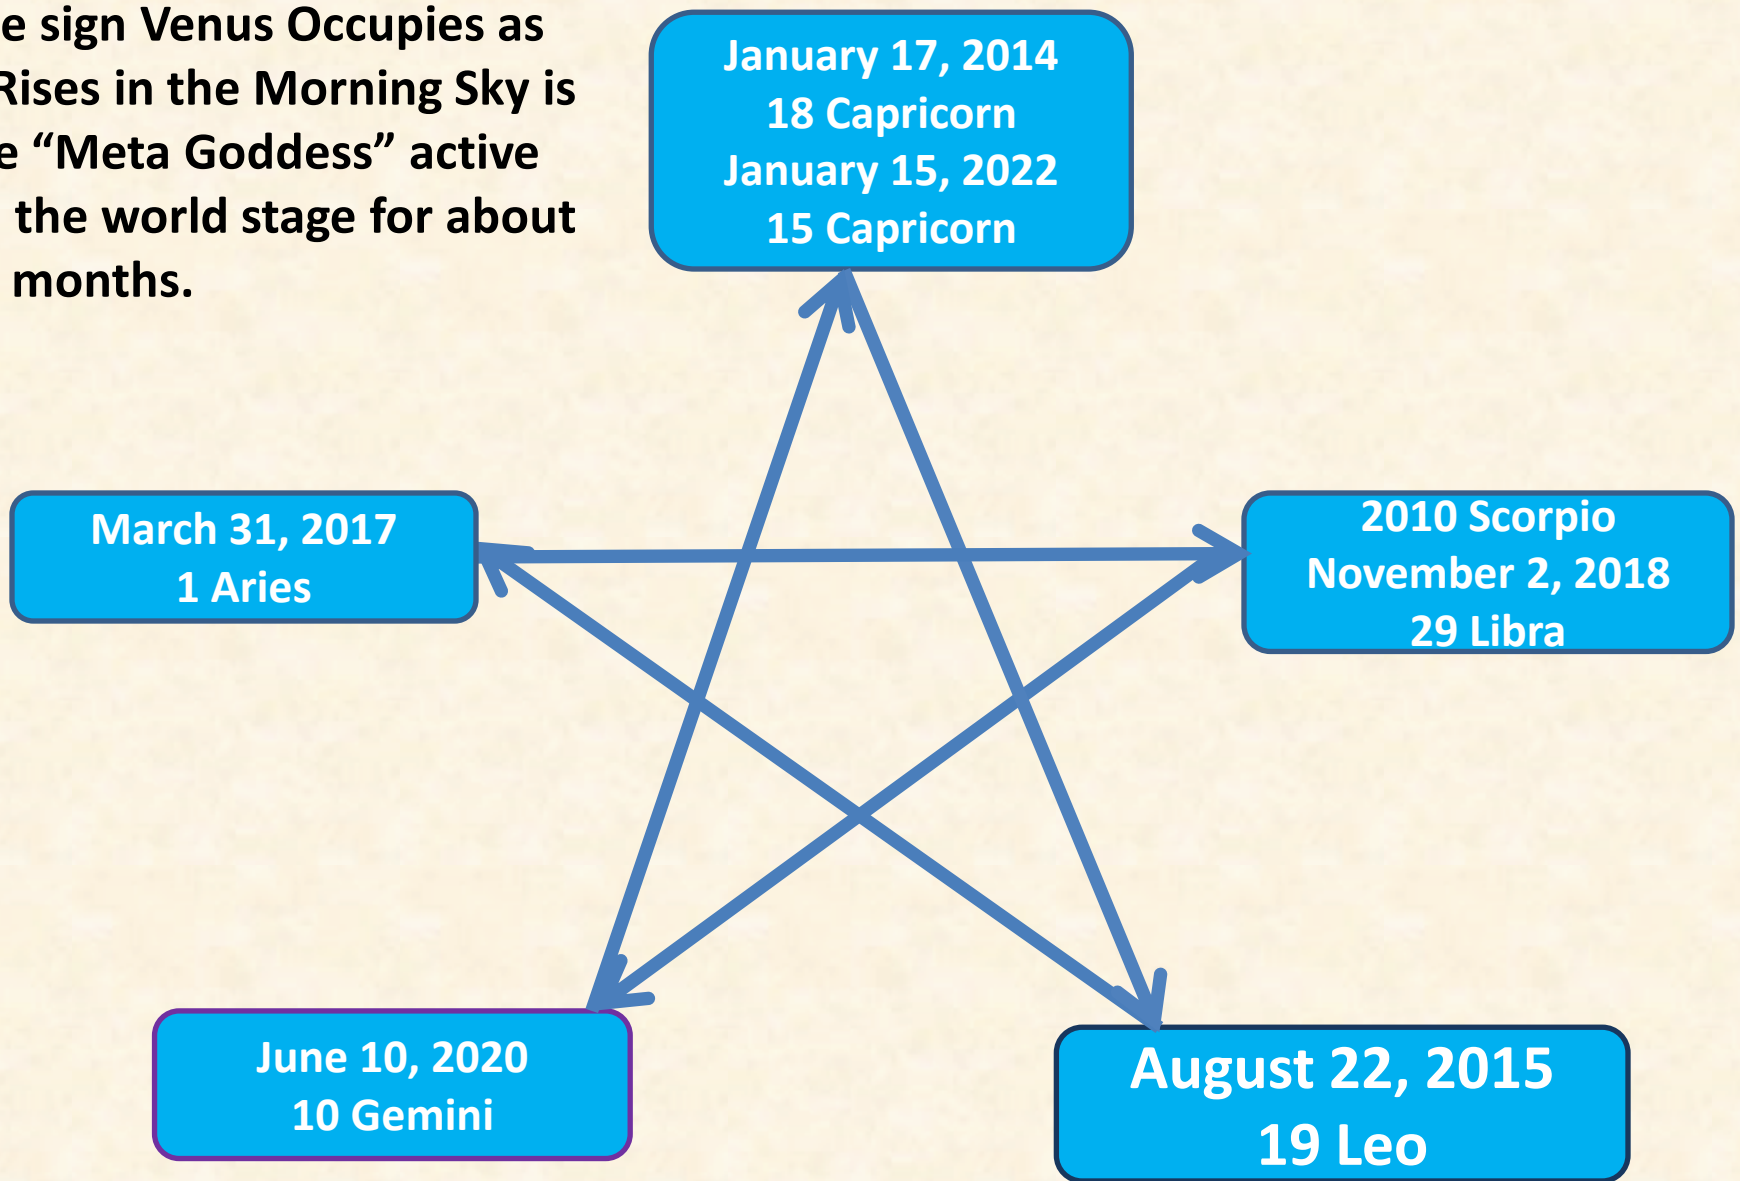

by Catherine MacCoun

Helping to Define the Intent for Between:

- Experiencing what is Subtle
- Discovering the Rare Potential residing in the Between
- Relatedness Between Leaving One Phase Before Entering the Next but NOT being in either Phase
- Not a Mid-Point, Not Here or There, Between Here and There

The sign Venus Occupies as it Rises in the Morning Sky is the “Meta Goddess” active on the world stage for about 19 months.

I am a Venus Evening Star Goddess claiming and embodying the fullness of a healthy, whole, creative and vibrant Second Chakra.

My Ancient Goddess Guide is Virgo, the Priestess, that continues to encourage me to find and express the Sacred Pattern of Life that is most sustainable and in communion with the Divine Core within, without, above and below.

With continued courage and wise leadership, my Meta-Goddess in Aries, fearlessly blazes my own Sacred Path. I am a Gypsy Warrior, my words and images can be weapons to cut away what no longer serves me. I will fight to the death protecting the innocence of the Children.

My Heyoka Trickster Gemini Venus is always busy creating unexpected and humorous situations and experiences that keep me from getting stuck in ruts and mucky stagnant pools of circular, ineffective ways of communicating. Imagination is my hallmark - there is always at least nine ways to look at things. I know there is more than one reality. This is serious Play and playful Seriousness!

My Radiance comes from finding beauty and pleasure in all I do. My Taurus Sun is the fuel that keeps me grounded and embodied while in this Middle World reality and my Second Chakra fluid and healthy.

I flow and go with the flow

Aida Nuñez-Troedsson

I am present at the Sacred Fire of the Circle of Grandmothers for it is their Wisdom that guides me. I attend as many Councils of the Grandmothers as I am able and they show me the importance of non-judgement and non-attachment to outcome so that I do not lose my sense of Freedom while serving the Whole.

Don't be fooled by how we look ~ we are ShapeShifters

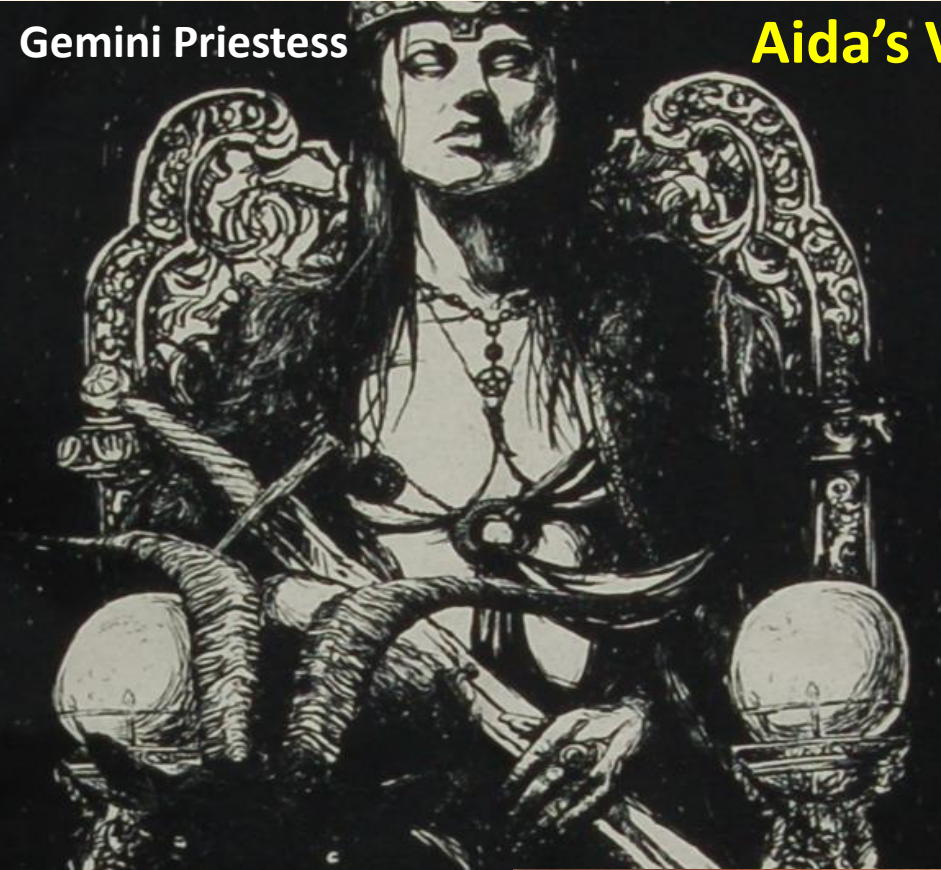

I am a Gemini Priestess attending the Sacred Mystery School of Capricorn
I am here to co-create through Sacred Play

I am learning to create patterns of healing, both within the Psyche and in the world of Form, that will be of lasting and sustainable value to the Children and the Children's Children on to the Seventh Generation.

I align myself with the creative Shakti that flows through me and express the deepest Essence of my Soul through healing words and images. Even through what seems like the worst of experiences, I find the treasure by fearlessly step into the Unknown without a map.

I have Faith and Optimism because my Inner Star within my Womb is my compass. I trust my Body! I trust my Intuition! I trust my Imagination! I trust my Power to Create and Co-Create! I know how to ShapeShift! (see Aida's images on the next slide)

Emma Waner Venus Review

I was born in Dec 1933 with Venus in Aquarius with a Cancer overtone. I am an evening star Venus with a Brow chakra energy.

I choose to come into a Large Italian family, My father was an immigrant and Mother 1st generation American. My parents were farmers, and at the time of my birth I was the 7th child. There would be 4 other siblings to come after me. We were a poor but happy family. Life was full of adventure and protection.

My family lived in Texas until the summer of 41. I would have my first Venus return in December, and in Sept would be entering the third grade. Crops had failed for a number of years and we were struggling financially. The family had a conference and decided to accept an invitation from my Mothers parents to move the family to Rockford, Illinois. So as soon as school was out we began packing up the house.

In July my oldest brother and two older sisters took our only car and started the migration. It was determined that I at the tender age of 7 1/2 should accompany them. The trip was full of exciting new things and places to experience. We arrived at my Grandparents house and my siblings were to stay in the garage, converted to a large bedroom with Toilet, and stove. I was to stay with my Aunt Emma, and Uncle Ray and their two sons, who lived one house away.

The newness wore out very quickly. Aunt Emma Worked, so I spent my days with my grandmother. My siblings all found work and were busy starting new social lives.

Emma Waner Venus Review

Mom and Dad and the rest of the family took the train to Rockford in August. I found myself so homesick, I continually cried for no reason. I was sleeping in a bed all by myself for the first time in my life. I missed my siblings that were not adults. It was like being in Cancer hell. When we were all reunited I was happy again and start preparing for my new life in a new school.

In June of 1948 Venus changed from Cancer to Gemini overtone. Venus may have changed gears but I was not ready to change with her. I was still very attached to my family and looked at them for security, love and nurturing.

I was starting to show my Aquarius Venus. Day dreaming about trips to foreign lands reading adventure books, and exploring as much about nature as I could. I loved farm animals and loved going to the Zoo. Now that I think of it my Gemini overtone was slowly creeping in. Later, going to Africa, for 6 years as a missionary nurse.

My Cancer Meta-Goddess has been slowly adapting to her new Gemini influence. I do have Chiron in my birth chart At 0 degree Gemini, with an opposition to my Scorpio Mercury, and square to Vesta in Virgo. My relationship with the Gemini energy started early in life. My brother Joe, Is a strong Gemini, and is Six years older than me.

He became my protector when I entered grade school. When the boys teased me about my clumsiness and awkward looks, Joe taught me how to box, so that I could beat off the bullies.

Emma Waner Venus Review

I became pretty good at this until Mom put a stop to this part of my education. As a teenager my favorite songs were "DON'T FENCE ME IN" and FAR AWAY PLACES WITH STRANGE SOUNDING NAMES".

As an adult I always chose friends that were Gemini orientated. So gradually the Gemini goddess has crept into my life. She has become very strong in my current energy.

My Moon is in Virgo. I have honored the priestess all my life. My life theme has been " How may I serve". My pledge to the Universe has been that I would stay on this planet as long as I could serve. I now realize that service does not mean being subservient, but serving Gaia by loving, and serving with the energy of all the gods and goddesses. And honoring all their different jobs.

So my old Virgo Goddess, has emerged into my New Aquarian Goddess, who love's freedom and new Ideas, and yet honors the heritage and preserving the planet, all of it's inhabitants and energies, and this solar system.

My life has been one of learning how to synthesize different energies. Sometimes I do it well and other times not so well. Having a Libra Rising sign has created a need for my Independent free Electron Aquarian Venus to honor close relationships. Even though my tendency has been, that if a relationship, either work or a room mate) went sour, move on to a new one.

Emma Waner Venus Review

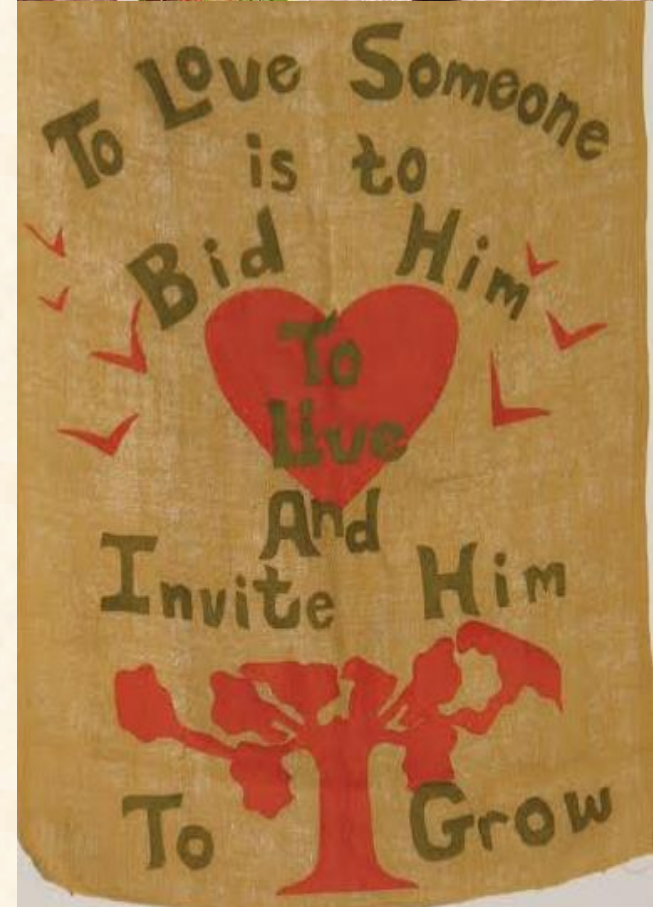

45 Years ago, Phil and I found each others. We are together today. There has been a lot of bumps in the relationship. Sometimes there has been near fracture points.

I think that the wall hanging that we made when we were first married still holds true for us. Our vow was that as long as our love lived we would be together, as it is today. The bottom of the picture shows a tree. The words are:

To Love Someone Is To Bid Him To Live And Invite Him To Grow.

We are still growing together. So My Aquarian, brow chakra, Cancer-Gemini Venus Meta-Goddess, is still living, growing and Loving.

Thank you so much Cayelin and Tami for allowing us to join you on this special Journey!

Linda Lomker's Venus Synthesis

I am a Evening Star Venus claiming my fullest engagement with the fourth chakra/gate.

The Meta-Goddess guiding me through my path of full Goddess Awakening is the Aries Goddess. The Ancient Goddess I have embodied through countless lifetimes is the Capricorn Goddess.

My Leo Goddess runs on Cancer fuel and is fully engaged in the Mystery School training of the Aquarius Mystery School. She is blessed with the brilliant insight and wise council of Saturn.

Venus Synthesis Statement: I am the radiant, heart-centered Queen Mother Goddess who leads through example, encouragement, recognition and praise. I have been the practical, wise Grandmother Goddess in the past. Grandmother Goddesses' influence is very strong given I was born under an Evening Star Venus and Saturn is conjunct my Mother aspect (Cancer). My Aries Meta-Goddess guides me to believe in equality, to honor individuality and to give and expect respect. I attend the Aquarius Mystery School fascinated by the premise that everything is energy and by how energy play can heal and create.

Nancy's Synthesis

I am a Morning Star Goddess claiming and embodying the gifts of Death by Intent, exploring choosing to die, and experiencing Life-Death-Life at the Earth Star Chakra.

My Leo Amazon Queen Meta Goddess Guide is helping me learn radical radiant self-love and how to joyfully shine my Love and creativity, thereby inspiring others to do the same.

My Ancient Goddess guide is Aries, Wild Woman Amazon for the Cause, and Aries is also my Present as my Emerging Goddess.

My Ancient and Future Goddesses meet each other at the 8th Gate, where the gifts and shadows of my Ancient Aries Tribe are being transformed into New Aries.

My Emerging Warrior Amazon is attending the Mystery School of Cancer, learning to feel my feelings and to care wisely and tenderly, for the sake of the New Earth and next seven generations. I am taught by Saturn the Elder Teacher of Mastery, Uranus the Cosmic Revolutionary, Neptune the Mystical Guru, and Chiron the Shamanic Healer.

Nancy's Synthesis

In order to explore how to balance self-nurturance and the nurturance of others, my Guides help me explore the wisdoms of mastery (including self-mastery), radical freedom, compassion and imagination, and seeing into pain to find the healing medicine within.

As I learn, my Inner Aries Amazon Warrior shines with pleasure (Taurus Sun) at being All In for the great good of Love and doing that which brings me joy.

Synthesis Statement and Invocation

I am a Wild Woman Goddess, a Wise and Mystic Shamanic Healer Amazon, a Morning Star Light Bringer, giving away all that is false in me so that only Truth remains. With radiant self-love, over and over I die by intent so I can experience the joy of my True Self and Sacred Mission, of wise and radical compassionate healing for the sake of Gaia and the next seven generations.

Sarah Gallant

I'm a Morning Star Goddess born in the Between Phase with Venus in Aquarius, Aquarius/Capricorn overtone, Sun conjunct Vesta in Pisces, Moon and Ascendant in Taurus with Black Moon Lilith.

Taurus is my Past and Present Mystery School. I haven't synthesized words to create a Venus Alchemy statement yet, although plan to soon.

The class and creative prompts have inspired so much that continues to shape and reshape itself as I reflect on the journey. Vesta (and it feels that Black Moon Lilith too) wanted to be included in this collage. no if's and's or but's...

Particularly enlightening for me was the addition of the Between Inner Phase information to the Venus Alchemy study. I'm looking forward to writing and more creative projects to weave and synthesize the energies and to looking at many more charts too.

I awoke excited this morning about trying to create something new - had not a clue what it would be - hoping that I could in time - the collage was fun! (see next slide)

Thank you so much for the class and all that you've shared Cayelin and Tami...and thanks to all fellow Venus Alchemy Sojourners for the dialogue and the sharing.

Much love, Sarah

Rooted and Reaching

Maureen Paxton Venus Alchemy Synthesis and Story

The baby girl lay in her cradle, only moments after her birth. It had been a difficult one and her face showed the Crescent Moon shaped wound from the slipping of the forceps used to pull her forth into the world.

It was a 36 hour ordeal, and both baby and mother were exhausted. Venus, and those who would be her strength and inspiration on this journey of discovery stood around her. Venus knew this soul, and had many talks with her, as had they all, while she was preparing for her new incarnation on Earth. This would be their last meeting with her, as the time for joining had arrived.

Venus, the Goddess through whom she would find her feminine expression in her Morning Star Essence, looked up and saw the Star still shining brightly in the early morning sky. This time of birth would begin at the Crown Chakra, signaling her descent into the Underworld. Venus then looked down at the new baby girl, and blessed her with these words:

“You will find great joy and enthusiasm within this lifetime, and when you look upon me in the sky you will remember that you are the Light Bearer, and that you herald the rising of the Sun. You will find this amusing, as you are not a morning type of person, but prefer the serenity and peace of the dark to do your deepest processing, and I smile with you at this realization! Know that your light within the dark will bring hope to others, and that I bring you courage and clear direction, and knowledge of what it means to make life sacred.”

Venus then looked to her right where the Leo Goddess, Sekhmet, stood. Sekhmet looked down on the new baby girl and thought about all the lifetimes that they had been together, and blessed her with these words:

“I am of Fire and the Sun, and I have been with you throughout your many times on Earth, and I will again be with you throughout this one. When you look upon my image you will remember what it is to burn away old beliefs that cause you to doubt who you are. Old identities will powerfully fall away, and you will open to the new.

Call on me when you need courage to take action within the challenges that present themselves on your path. These challenges will lead you to shine brightly, and step into living your authentic life. You will learn to love yourself as you are, the Sovereign Queen, and you will join many others in bringing the Divine Feminine to the forefront, where she belongs after a long absence due to Patriarchal rule of this world. She will return stronger and the people of Earth will again feel her presence.”

Then Venus looked to her left, where the Sagittarius Goddess stood. She was dressed as the traveler. She had a beautifully weaved straw hat, sturdy shoes, and a backpack. In her hand she held a book entitled “Oh, the Places You’ll Go”. The book was magical and had a beautiful, starry dust swirling around it. She was prepared to answer the call of adventure, and the excitement of the Quest.

She looked down on the new baby girl and blessed her with these words:

“I will be strong within you, and you will never tire of the quest for your truth. You will begin early asking questions because your mother will raise you in a religion where questions are encouraged, whose beginning was in the heart of a very spiritual woman, who herself was a seeker. You will find passion of discovery in travel, books, and experiences in both the physical world and the inner world of consciousness.

Your own Spiritual Awakening will be your lifelong quest, and it will not cease until you take your last breath. You will find joy in the wildness and freedom of being responsible to yourself, but your challenge will be to find these things in a seemingly confined role as a woman. When you look upon my image in it's many representations, you will remember your purpose and that all will come to you in time. Your vision will continue to inspire you, and those within your family.”

All three then looked across the cradle, and on the other side stood a Scorpio Goddess, whose continence was both beautiful and terrifying. She had many arms, and behind her and surrounding her was the weaving of an intricate web. Many knew her as Spider Woman.

She was the weaver of creation, of life, and once you knew her, life would be forever changed. She had a dangerous look, but her eyes shone of wisdom.

Maureen Paxton Venus Alchemy Synthesis and Story

She looked down on the new baby girl and blessed her with these words:

I stand over your feminine expression,” and she nodded to Sagittarius, and I will help guide you to the mysteries of surrender, death and rebirth. I will help you to master the life force energy that flows so strongly through you, to uncover your desires, and act on them, even though saying yes to them may be contrary to what your beliefs tell you is safe.

You will delight in the Shamanic Realm, and dreams will be of supreme importance to you. You will crave to know and experience the unseen world. This power is strong within you, but in the beginning you will use it's mastery to hide and be safe. Eventually you will give way to exploring the edges of what the world feels is good and proper, and living a life without fear, repression, and oppression.

In this role, I will be with you for most of your life, surrendering to the Goddess Libra at a later point, where your feminine expression will be influenced by a new learning. When you look on me you will remember, that I am ascending with you, and in that most important of all roles, my Mystery School will always be your birthright. You will feel the power of place with a depth only now being acknowledged. You will seek your truth with a depth never before felt in any of your experiences in the past. You will seek out the magic, the deep darkness of secrets, and the illumination of knowing, and you will embrace it. Your feminine expression will be at one with the knowledge of the Sorceress, and you will weave a web of ecstatic feeling and you will joyfully embrace a life of dancing on the edge.

Maureen Paxton Venus Alchemy Synthesis and Story

When all had given their final blessings, there was a moment of silence before the joining.

Then all held hands, became one shining bright light, and moved into the little body beneath them.

The new baby girl was enlivened with this energy and began to feel the hunger, both physical and spiritual.

She was then taken to her Earthly Mother, and they looked into each other's eyes for the first time.

Maureen's Collage is on the next slide.

Melody Lambert Venus Synthesis Statement

I am an Evening Star Goddess, born during the Scorpio Goddess' reign, during her ascent from the 6th chakra, claiming and embodying the gifts of the Third Eye.

I have been the Ancient Aries Goddess, the Warrior Goddess, the Pioneer and She-Who-Protects. I am here to embody the Gemini Goddess - the Heyoka, the Trickster, the Creative Muse, the Eternal (or infernal) Child.

My emerging Gemini Goddess is here learning "relationships as a path to God". (Libra Rising) Imagine, being a free electron, a non-binding entity that got signed up for the school on relationships. How'd you think that's gone?

Many times my Aries Moon came to the doors of the Libra School and took an axe to the front door, then She set fire to it to no avail. Alas, They say I must stay in here and figure this stuff out.

(Read in Darth Vader's breathing and voice here)

My teacher on this journey of the emerging Goddess has been Saturn. (Quite the bag of laughs, Saturn came equipped with a cattle prod, a nail gun, and the 2000 page Book of Rules.)

My Gemini Goddess shines with the fuel of an Aries Sun.

Melody Lambert Venus Synthesis Statement

I am an Evening Star Creative Muse, Sacred Clown, She-Who-Knows-the-Paths, Psychopomp; in service to Spirit, in search of fun and magic, I transform the energy of people through humor, shine with a pioneering spirit, connect to the feminine mysteries, reclaim the gift of clarity, learn to trust the inner voice, to relate to and love those around me, embracing the 'other' as a path to God; learn to embody responsibility and mastery and give back to the next generations.

I did this collage but its not quite done and just a bit grand and romantic. It lacks humor. oh well.

Magi McCabe Synthesis

Being in the midst of my Venus return, I am so still in the process of synthesizing...thus no statement is coming to me...but I love this exercise...it has helped me get my thoughts moving in that direction. Thank you Cayelin and Tami both for this opportunity and guidance...With much love, Magi

I am a courageous Morning Star Goddess claiming and embodying the gifts of my Third Eye Chakra. Through my willingness and courage to see and release distortions and assumptions I am discovering that the juicy magical life filled experiences meant for me are to learn how to deeply love, know and care for myself and my Home/Planet.

My Meta-Goddesses guiding me through my path of full Goddess Awakening are Gaia-Sophia herself (Virgo) and Sekmet (Leo).

The Ancient Goddess I have embodied through countless lifetimes is the Pisces Goddess.

My Virgo Goddess is fully engaged in the Mystery School training of Scorpio, learning how to take the expansive, healing, outward spiraling energy of my Ancient Goddess Pisces and looping it inward, in a magnificent infinity dance of life.

She is blessed with the brilliant insight and wise council of Chiron (amplifying and connecting to Galactic Center), Jupiter (igniting a fire within) , and Saturn (my Pillar of Strength).

Victoria Peters Crystal Priestess of the Compassionate Truth

My Present Goddess is Loving and Supportive Libra Goddess who has struggled with the cultural and family legacy of codependency, transforming energies to find new balance through mutual empowerment and support.

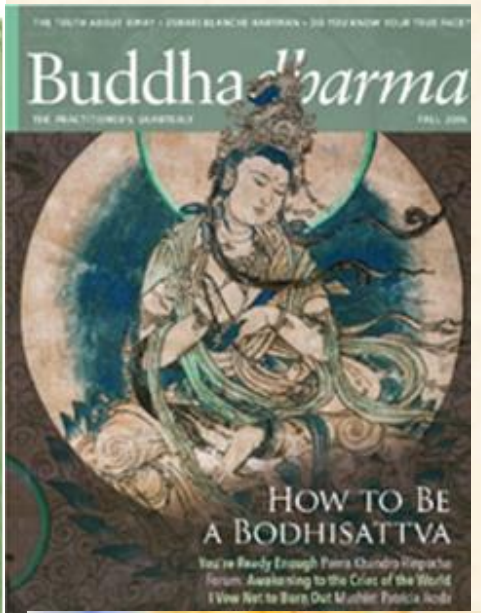

She is supported by her ancient lunar Enlightened Questing Sagittarius Goddess (Moon), who partners with her Sagittarius Mars / Inner Masculine and together they have explored the spiritual landscape from Buddhism to Yoga and other esoteric traditions. We joyfully co-create with a new culture that includes harmonious relationships, knowing everyone in our life is a mirror for our own growth!

Together they light the path for the rising sign Compassionate and Loving Pisces Goddess who must remember the doors and pathways into transcendent union with the Divine, experiencing ecstatic states of bliss and remembering our true nature as Love and Connection, as Divine Union with All that IS. Her Evening Star Sacral Chakra challenge is to learn to embrace pleasure and beauty as the motivation for what I do in my life.

As a natal Virgo Overtone I was destined to become a Priestess and High Priestess in the Nicole Christine/Lisa Michaels lineage, and I have since recovered much of the Overtone Generous and Loving Queen Leo Goddess, to stand in my Luminous Sacred Fire of Radiant Self-Love, Self-Respect, and Self-Confidence as the Inspiring and Charismatic Goddess that I am. Together we are honored to restore our temples, to gather the priestesses together in sacred ceremony, to restore a culture of reverence for the Earth, and each other, once again. (see next slide)

by Guin Allisen

I'm Little Jenny and I've got a story to tell. That's my Granjen on the cover, but we look a lot alike. Maybe that's 'cause I drew it, haha! Pretty, huh? Turns out I'm a fabulous artist. I work in the style of joyful symbolism.

Our butterflyness might be puzzling, so wander with me a bit and let me explain. You see, I'm what's called the Old Goddess in this story, no matter how cute and young I may look. Don't let my fluttering around daydreaming all the time fool ya. I contribute. A full 33%. That may not sound like much, but sit tight. It's all gonna make sense, trust me.

Butterflies Don't Lie! Have you ever in your life known a butterfly to lie?! Didn't think so. So just sit back, relax and rest assured what you're about to hear is all true. I eat Truth for breakfast, 'cause I'm burning Sun in Sagittarius fuel. Those fluent in Shamanic Astrology will know what that means.

Let me share a serving of Truth with you—this cute young Old Goddess, moi, is helping support the emergence of an elder New Goddess, my Granjen! Yep, that's right. Young Old Goddess relinquishes reign to old New Goddess—finally! I'm NOT giving up my sparkly tiara, though. But I'll certainly dig into my rhinestone stash and help her make her own.

by Guin Allisen

I belong to the Pisces Tribe, which was THE going concern in these parts for quite some time, but times are changing and there's a popular new start-up, an Aquarius cooperative - a Mystery School they call themselves. They're taking over and leaving us in the dust! I don't mind though, 'cause I'm kind of the StAr of my tribe and I've had my share of attention. So I don't mind sharing with somebody else now. I'm kind of magnanimous that way. Learned it from my boss, Leo.

The Pisces Tribe are dreamy mystics. Not very rooted you see. Not into possessions, ownership, containment, that kind of thing. We tend to strike out on a wing and a prayer with only the clothes on our backs and an empty begging bowl holding the promise of dinner, all of which we'll give you if you need them.

We actually had a house once, but we wandered away and stayed gone so long they put up some spiritual retreats, hospitals, mental asylums and such on our lot, #12 on the wheel. So it kinda makes sense to say we're not in our wheel house anymore. I have wondered for such a long time what the heck that meant, you know, what's it derived from. Duh!

My tribe is renting a house from Taurus to use as our home base, a temple really. Verrrry comfortable digs. We've got no money, no possessions. IMAGINE soft strains of that Beatles song floating along trails of incense through this luxurious Taurus rental. Ironic, huh?

We wave to Aquarius every now and then, but they're too detached to notice. Smudging themselves, clearing their fields and such all the time. I give them credit, though, for their energetic discernment, which is totally lacking in our Pisces tribe. We will merge with Anything! No boundaries. At. All. Just sayin'.

We share a common expansiveness. They're just more selective, and detached, more investigative and scientific. We're more empathic and expressive. They're in the head. We're in the heart.

To help me make rent in our Taurus digs, Leo was gracious enough to employ me back in the day, so I'm an entertainer - an artist and storyteller! Kind of a performance artist. No skills or experience needed. The only requirement is a happy, healthy Radiant inner child. And maybe some colored markers, stickers, glitter and a glue stick.

The South Node of this Pisces Mooning falls in Gemini, hanging out at Leo's house of creativity and children, so hey, I'm doing my part dressing up as a magical child butterfly telling stories, making art, and entertaining 33% of the time, no more, no less. That's my exact contribution - gently inspiring people to play, create and dream up their own inner child genius - because any more than 33% and there's just no reward in it for anybody, and I could be spending that time fluttering around, daydreaming, blissing out and merging with anything and everything in sight. I kinda enjoy being one of the Divine Bliss sippers.

by Guin Allisen

To be honest, working for a living has never felt right to me. In fact, it feels downright unnatural! But if it has to be done, then this is a pretty fun way to earn money. Sometimes I take my act over to the hospital in my old wheel house and try to help all the stressed out people there. Some of them appreciate it. Others just can't relate. I figure they just need more exposure to get it.

Heck, I even coaxed a manager into some intentional creativity drawing last week at a meeting! I think she kinda liked it. Some of the other supervisors were looking at us funny. They'll need more time to get on board, but they may still come around. They do, however, eat the Moon Pies I bring around. Chocolate flavored at the New Moon and Banana or Vanilla flavored at the Full Moon. They call me Moonbeam over at the hospital, hahaha! Siriusly!

Some folks say the sign of the South Node is unimportant, but yet here I am, a flittering Gemini butterfly, fully supported by my boss Leo's affiliation with creativity and children. And Love Affairs are part of this Leo package, too, which I guess that accurately describes my relationship with nectar, bliss, and those Divine Soul Kisses I'm always seeking. Always. Seeking.

Speaking of love affairs, that New Goddess on the scene I'm about to tell you about has a man, Scorpio. Maybe he'll pour us a glass of organic merlot, give our soft Pisces feet a nice massage, and entertain us with late night storytelling by the fireside this autumn! He's intense! Penetrating! A bit of a different vibration. But this story's about her. Not him, or really even me.

by Guin Allisen

Creativity, dreaming, and playfulness as social responsibility - these are the gifts I lay at the feet of the New Goddess, to support her emergence in these new times. I've been offering my gifts for decades, but she struggled with a bit too much seriousness and perfectionism. A little too earthbound, if you know what I mean.

Out of frustration she would just kick away my gifts entirely for long periods of time. But now, whew, finally she gets it I think! Sometimes she worries, is it too late, is she too old? But then she'll remember she's right on time because she was born to be an Elder Goddess, yay! She may complain about her body being stiff and the sense acuity losses, but in many ways she's finding elderhood surprisingly satisfying, like she's finally herself in a way she's never experienced. A good way!

Sometimes I flutter over and alight unobtrusively on a starflower outside that new Aquarius Mystery School, listening in. The things I've learned! Siriusly, if I tune my antennae right I can pick up anything I want to know. It's like a direct line to the Akashic Records in there! Moon's North Node is in the Aquarius House, which means there's an employment opportunity there.

The Aquarius job at their Mystery School. The job description is kinda sketchy though, needs fleshing out more. I don't understand it. I guess that's how Mystery School's roll. You can only grok so much without actual experience. But I'm sure my knack for expansion and the tools of dreaming, active imagination, and creativity may prove to be the most fabulous doorways ever to cosmic consciousness!

The TRUE Story of An Emerging Capricorn Goddess at the Turning of the Ages

by Guin Allisen

I've told you a LOT about me, and it's only supposed to be about me.....how much of the time? Yes, that's right, 33%—winner, winner, chicken dinner!

So that means this story has 67% left for her! She must be planning to live to be really, really old. Despite all the talk about me, this is really all about her, the emerging New Goddess, Evening Star Capricorn Venus. She wants to be called Granjen, btw, so she's finally starting to come into herself. Naming is important. Her maternal great grandmother was called Ganjean, so Granjen is a way to honor the Grandmothers. Granjen and Little Jenny—that's pretty dang sweet but I can handle it. I feast on Bliss and Nectar, after all. And Truth I eat for breakfast always leaves a sweet taste.

Granjen drinks Truth for breakfast, too, but she tosses it back like it's medicine. She loves Medicine! But then she's kind of a Medicine Woman, Wise Woman, Responsible Elder in training.

Confession time: I've kinda been stealing her thunder for decades, hampering her emergence with my dreamy, irresponsible ways and dazzling creative musings. But it seems she's finally figured out how to use my tricks to her advantage. She took some online classes and has learned to turn creativity and dreaming into Medicine with processes that are structures that can support generations to come in soul deepening self-understanding, healing, an inner and outer guidance system, beauty, grace, spirit and blessing all rolled into one!

The TRUE Story of An Emerging Capricorn Goddess at the Turning of the Ages

by Guin Allisen

That looks like mighty fine structural support to this little butterfly! New Structures for a new time that can grow, shift, and adapt as needed in the moment.

Gaia herself is experiencing a vibrational shift, so Earth forms must become less fixed and dense in this new age. Granjen is actually becoming a Wayshower, doing Capricorn Goddess in a new way to fit the times. She's had some support from neighbors, teachers, and Celestial and Underworld guides, and still it's taken her 60 years to wake up enough for me to pass the Goddess scepter to her! But, like I said, that's partly my doing. But mostly, it's really just perfect timing.

Being how Granjen's been hanging out so much around that Aquarius Mystery School, too, they've grandmothered her in and she's definitely into mining that unlimited cosmic resource for ways to support her circle of grandmothers and the generations to come. She's a serious student, leaving no stone unturned in responsibly tracking down useful, practical resources. She has a knack for honing in on what'll most likely grow corn. The fact that she's having such fun with it is just new age-y gravy.

Maybe it's on account of all the time she's been spending over at the AMS that she appears to be waging a Capricorn Revolution. Whaat?!? A Capricorn Revolution?! Yes, ma'am, she's an Ancient Revolutionary, just like her Muse once told her! And seems to be having the time of her life, finally, doing it.

The TRUE Story of An Emerging Capricorn Goddess at the Turning of the Ages

by Guin Allisen

The Aquarius Mystery School has the largest universal library in existence. And this begins the strange story of Granjen's cocoon. I mean, how did a Capricorn sea goat end up in a cocoon? Strange as it may sound, she's got an underworld connection to a certain centaur. Chiron's his name. Kind of legendary.

There's something about being in his presence that shows you your Wound with a capital W. It just magically shows up when he connects with you. It shows itself by getting bigger and bigger and bigger until you can't help but see it and think - Good Grief I've got to fix this, Now! And thus you're motivated to get right on top of healing that. Then it becomes your Medicine, a healing elixir for the world.

Having this gift is Awesome, but the way it comes to you can be kinda scary. Hence Chiron's Underworld dwelling place in the basement of the AMS. (American Medical Society?) People love him, because of the gifts you know, but they get kind of nervous when they see him above ground because, well, transformation can feel pretty yucky during the breakdown phase.

Granjen kept visiting her AMS neighbors, and eventually accepted that Aquarius job I mentioned earlier. Of course she was bound to run into Chiron there from time to time. She kept consuming more and more and more books from their library, especially books on Healing, gorging herself on everything in sight. Sometimes she wondered what deep fear she might be blocking with her excessive information consumption.

The TRUE Story of An Emerging Capricorn Goddess at the Turning of the Ages

by Guin Allisen

Maybe it had to do with this nagging little feeling that she didn't have a right to exist. Like she felt guilty about taking up space on the Earth plane or something. Maybe she felt like her thousands of lifetimes on Earth should have been enough to complete her mission, and by being here she was taking away from someone else and delaying her own evolution.

Like a woman possessed, she was intent on gathering up all the resources she could. Books on healing, astrology, magic, nutrition, organizing, alternative housing and any- and everything in the category of self-improvement. She really, really wanted to get fixed! Improve yourself to improve the world!

She was like a caterpillar that consumes every leaf on a plant overnight, except in her case it was book leaves. She didn't even stop consuming information to eat but just sat around snacking and reading all the time, gathering information and stuffing herself more and more and more. I think now she may have been trying to compensate for the missing power connection she felt so painfully in her Solar Plexus. Maybe her fear of not having a right to be here had settled in that area of her body. She consumed so much information she was about to burst, but she rarely took action on any of it. No matter how much she consumed, she still lacked the power to act and got increasingly stiff, creaky, heavy, bloated and lethargic. She really liked the Shamanic Astrology Handbook for the Life Intent Blueprint it offered her. Gobble, gobble, gobble! She was very serious in her desire to understand her Life Intent and take action on it.

by Guin Allisen

When she could pack no more inside, she started rolling around on the floor and wrapping the book leaves around herself. Just like a caterpillar, she built her own cocoon! Reminiscent of Nanna on a meathook in the underworld, she was hanging there overstuffed in her self-built cocoon. Very slow, dense and earthbound. Earth. Bound.

Then a blessing from the Scorpio Meta Goddess herself descended as an overtone was struck. Its deep sensuous note initiating a vibration of total transformation. A surge of primal energy powerfully triggered a much needed death and rebirth cycle. Being an empath, it was painful for me to watch as Granjen experienced a complete and total breakdown of everything she had been up to this point. Just like a caterpillar goes through. The overconsumption that filled her beyond capacity melted into glistening drops of pure liquid potential. It was terrifying, magical, alchemical and sacred!

Unbeknownst to her, all this time her excessive consumption was a way of gathering fuel for the enormous transformation occurring now. The time had come for digestion and assimilation. And elimination of what's no longer needed.

It was one of those puzzling situations where it seemed she'd been doing the wrong thing for the right reason. Or maybe not. It wasn't nice of Granjen to hurt herself by cramming so much down in an effort to satisfy that seemingly insatiable little fearful voice inside that worried about not having a right to be here.

The TRUE Story of An Emerging Capricorn Goddess at the Turning of the Ages

by Guin Allisen

Perhaps this is the magic of Chiron at work, and explains why he's so legendary. He transforms wounds into healing potions, using whatever is stuck inside them to ferment the alchemy. Maybe it didn't have to be just books for the magic to work.

Granjen could have used food, alcohol, drugs, sex and rock and roll. Maybe she did, but I'll never tell! She admits to an acquaintance with the Seven Deadly Sins. And she once had a session with a shaman who claims to have removed 700 Demons from her! He stressed that was a lot. Like, A LOT of Demons to have attacking one person for decades and live through it. He says he banished them, though, so it's all good.

The cocoon she had spun around herself over the years became a sacred container for the meltdown that would precede her goddess emergence. While it might not have seemed like an ideal strategy at the time, it all turned out perfectly in the end. Every shred of usefulness was assimilated and queued up to be put into service.

As the Scorpio Meta Goddess continued to strike notes of transformation and Granjen was lulled by these new vibrations, she relaxed, surrendered, and just rested between worlds, stewing in her cosmic alchemical soup. Sometimes she had the most amazing technicolor dreams of a wonderful new life as she rocked and rested in her cocoon. One night a Dream Guide came to restore her power! His name is Khatfu. He told her straight up: "I'm here to restore your broken power connections"!

The TRUE Story of An Emerging Capricorn Goddess at the Turning of the Ages

by Guin Allisen

Not long after Khatfu visited her in the Dreamtime, she noticed a delightful buzz of life force energy, like tiny butterflies tickling her tummy. Her Solar Plexus was booting up, activating, and coming back online! Feeling rested, strong and happy, and now buzzing with energy, she stretched her body and the cocoon just gave way.

A breath of fresh air drew her fluttering into the world in an exquisite tumble of lightness. Floating in the light, she fed herself on color, image, beauty, art, play, and dreams. Fluttering in joy, she envisioned a future of the awesome transformational healing forms and structures she would create and share with the generations to follow! In creativity she had discovered passion and love! Finally, after decades of nearly withering on the vine of life, she grokked Love, and how to share it! And she Soared!

She was carried so high on wings of creative joy, she found herself in the Celestial World where she encountered two guides who had been eagerly awaiting her arrival, Neptune and Ouranus. They immediately opened her doors of perception and offered her a smorgasbord of new perspectives to choose from. She remembered now she had relinquished her old perspectives in a dream while she was still cocooning.

Puzzling over the choices before her, she asked these magnificent guides, “What consciousness can I be and embody so I am experiencing the full expression of my infinite being?”

by Guin Allisen

Neptune smiled as he lifted his trident, and ribbons of colorful light began streaming from it, swirling iridescent sparkles around her that magically revealed her True Self. She returned his smile as she joyfully leaned into her embodiment as Visionary Elder, Dreamer of New Forms and Structures, and Light Human. She was shown a tantalizing vision of a dazzlingly beautiful new Libra Meta Goddess arriving in the near future to bless her with the overtone of sacred right relationships.

Turning now to wild Uranus she asked, “How can I let go of the known in order to more fully explore the unknown?” As soon as the question left her lips she felt lightning-struck with the sudden realization that she had already been gifted wonderful tools for that—Creativity and Dreaming!

A pair of portals perfectly suited for exploring between worlds. She gazed deeply into his wild eyes and felt waves of electricity fill her as his presence activated and energized her path. His energy felt strangely similar to Khatfu’s.

Satisfied with the support and confirmations received from her Celestial Guides that she was already on the right path, she expressed her deep gratitude and headed for her home world, Terra.

The TRUE Story of An Emerging Capricorn Goddess at the Turning of the Ages

by Guin Allisen

Now home to herself, she continues eagerly exploring what it would take to become 100% responsible for being the creator of her life, a responsible visionary elder for her tribe, and a builder of the forms most adaptably useful to the generations to come.

Back home on Mother Gaia her legs grew down to touch the Earth again and her wings relaxed into butterfly soft folds wrapping her in a colorful shawl befitting a new Elder Goddess sitting in circle with the Grandmothers. Silver strands frame her face with soft light that uplifts those who seek her guidance and wisdom. She's planning a croning celebration at her next Venus Return, her 8th return, to ceremonially accept the mantle of responsibility she was born for.

Her evolving understanding of those responsibilities include being a Way Shower deeply committed to an ongoing practice of self-forgiveness and radiant self-love and calming and reframing the voice of fear known as the critic, by encouraging the voice of wisdom, the inner creative spirit she calls her muse.

She plans to spend as much time as possible doing what she loves - creating, as her method of discovering and implementing skills to effectively build, administrate, manage and teach life- and world-changing creative processes. Art supplies and her special medicine phial in hand, she's ready to serve the collective good of generations to come and dream the dream onward.

The TRUE Story of An Emerging Capricorn Goddess at the Turning of the Ages by Guin Allisen

At this moment, she's opening her calendar to pencil in a date to attend a seminar on Managing Millennials In the Workplace in order to be of deeper service in these new times. As always, she'll take notes with colored markers and doodle images that elicit new understandings across the pages of her composition books.

As for this little butterfly, I'm just going to keep fluttering rainbows of joy and creativity around Granjen anytime I see her start getting overcome by gravity. And keep being the happy playful dreamer that I am, at her service 33% of the time! The rest of the time you can find me blissing out in the Dreamtime with my Pisces tribe. I'm keeping my wings!

Statement and/or Invocation

I am an Evening Star Wise Elder on the leading edge of an Ancient Revolution to envision, produce and implement unique new forms for a New Earth that will support the evolution of Light Humanity for the generations to come. I create and test these forms through the living alchemy of my own existence supported by my Underworld Guide Chiron the Healer and the Scorpio Meta Goddess who both bless me with their loving initiations through as many death-and-rebirth cycles as it takes to support my cause. I am grateful to my Celestial Guides Neptune and Uranus for blessing me with sudden new insights through dreams and creative acts, and for aiding me in restoring my solar plexus power connection. Supported by my Ancient Goddess Pisces, my Revolution is sacred service infused with deep compassion and a desire to soothe the suffering inherent in the human experience.
