Charge of the Crone (author unknown)

Hear the words of the Dark Goddess who stands within the crossroads, whose torch illuminates the underworld:

I am the Queen of Magic and the Dark of the Moon, hidden in the deepest night.

I am the mystery of the Otherworld and the fear that coils about your heart in the time of your trials.

I am the soul of nature that gives form to the universe; it is I who await you at the end of the spiral dance.

Most ancient among gods and mortals, let my worship be within the heart that has truly tasted life, for behold all acts of magic and art are my pleasure and my greatest ritual is love itself.

Therefore, let there be beauty in your strength, compassion in your wrath, power in your humility, and discipline balanced through mirth and reverence.

You who seek to remove my veil and behold my true face, know that all your questioning and efforts are for nothing, and all your lust and desires shall avail you not at all. For unless you know my mystery, look wherever you will outside yourself and it will allude you, for it is within you and nowhere else.

For behold, I have been with you, from the very beginning, the comforting hand that nurtured you in the dawn of life, and the loving embrace that awaits you at the end of each life, for I am ALL that is attained at the end of the dance, and I am the womb of the new beginnings, as yet unimagined and unknown.

Vesta Crone Goddess of Our Sacred Inner Fire

- Vesta is a Roman Goddess known as Hestia by the Greeks. She was hospitable and generous
- Keeper of the sacred alchemical fires purifying the temple, home and community
- Vesta was a sovereign priestess devoted to the sacredness of ALL life
- The Vestal Virgins were Sovereign Priestesses Unmarried women (unmarried and whole unto oneself was the original definition of Virgin) and they tended the sacred fires within the temple

Erik Roth Sacred Hearth Within: Vesta in Astrology

“Vesta was equated to the Earth itself, from which fire springs forth... fire was an extension of the Earth.”

“Fire itself was truly venerated in Vesta’s temple, the only round temple in Rome, compared to other temples or sanctuaries that were specifically aligned with the four (or more) directions or the sky. Because Vesta, symbolizes the Earth, her temple was round.”

Maureen Murdock writes that Vesta is “the wise woman within” and takes the form of divine ordinariness, meaning “seeing the sacred in each ordinary act.”

Erik writes, “It is about placing the ‘sacred’ in all that is done where routine becomes important. It is an act that nourishes the goddess within, connecting ourselves as a sacred temple or fire within that temple.”

In Greek and Roman times the fireplace was the center of the home where the spirits of the family gathered.

The fire was where offerings were made, meals were cooked and warmth was created so it was the most sacred place in every home.

Vesta chose to remain sovereign unto herself meaning she never married. She was often depicted wearing a modest dress, accompanied by a donkey.

Because donkeys turned the millstones and fire baked their goods, Donkeys and Vesta were highly revered by bakers.

The festival of Vestalia was celebrated each year from June 07-15 and the donkeys were decorated with crowns and flowers and bits of bread as a way to honor their contribution on June 09.

The final day of the festival was June 15, dedicated to cleaning and purifying the Temple.

Vestal Virgins vowed to remain unmarried for 30 years to focus on tending to the sacred fire in the Temple.

After 30 years they could choose to marry but most chose to continue their service to Vesta.

4 to 6 Vestal Virgins who tended the fire, protected the sacred objects in the temple and oversaw the rituals.

In current times, Vestalia is still observed in Rome.

Weddings during Vestalia were considered unlucky and forbidden from June 07-15

Having a clean kitchen or any areas in the home where there is fire is a way to honor Vesta today, including Candles and Incense.

Releasing at the Third Eye Chakra Capricorn Meta-Goddess with Venus in Capricorn & Aquarius

Capricorn · Feb 27 – Mar 6 → Aquarius · Mar 6 - 28

Transforming our Divine connection into Consciousness.
Becoming aware of our inner Sage. Guided by our internal Crone we release blockages to our Divine Sight and Perceptions. Releasing distortions to how we see, know and understand.

We are our Grandmother's visions, dreamed into reality, striving to support our treatment of the Earth and each other into conscious thoughts and actions.

Perceiving the Sage's charge to innovate how we live in the world.
Becoming embodied consciousness of our equality with one another, despite our surface differences, and clearly perceiving and revering all consciousness on our planet and beyond.

Where do we fear our internal sight? What blocks our awakening? How do we hold ourselves back from seeing higher truths? Where are we afraid to experiment and try change? How can we sit back and witness our true nature and release the mental chatter that distracts us?
